FOREWARD

The rough and ready cowboy days, the westward movement, and the pioneers have all vanished; but the idea to move on to a better place, to grasp a higher goal and to live a better life, still lives in the hearts of the graduating seniors and the student body.

For this reason, we have carried out the theme of western life as a reminder of the days that used to be and of the days that are yet to come. May they be the best for everyone.

Dear Joan
the best of luck in the rest of your school days. Love Catherine

Mrs. Louise Moss

Because I've lived a life that's filled with its own trials;
I am not afraid of what's to come. I'll make no denials;
I'll greet the days with smiles and cheer those on my way.
I have no choice of what to do, there'll be a greater day.
I'm not afraid to leave this world with all its solemn grace.
No changes will be made at all; the future I can face.

DEDICATION

We the students of Ilwaco High School, dedicate this 1955 Breakers to Miss Myrtle Mack. Miss Mack, without much recognition, has done much to make our high school days more memorable.

To Miss Mack we say thanks for all the help and advice she has given us.

ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

F. L. Rose

Carl P. Rose, Supt.

June 1955! To the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors it is just the end of another school year, but to you Seniors it is a time of decision. It is the time to decide whether to end formal education or seek further training in a chosen field and seriously begin earning a living. The choice is yours to make, but remember whatever your choice, it is not the end of all education.

We, your teachers for the last twelve years, hope we have given you some tools with which you will be able to further your learning in or out of schools--don't forget to use them.

Best wishes, and God grant you success and happiness always.

JUNIORS

This year the junior class gave their annual Junior Prom on December 4. The theme was "Mood Indigo."

The class rings were ordered on September 23, and arrived at the Time Shop in Ilwaco on November 24.

The Junior Play, "Spring Fever," was presented on March 4 and the Junior-Senior Banquet was given in honor of the seniors in April.

The Juniors have worked hard and have had a lot of fun in all of these activities.

Sec. Treas. P. Martenson

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomores started off their second year at Ilwaco High School with a big welcome for the Freshmen.

We gave our pep assemblies for football and basketball in due form.

Many entered into sports and music and we had a good turnout for honor roll.

We have had an enjoyable year full of many memories, and hope we have been of some help to our fellow students and faculty of Ilwaco High School.

President, N. Wilson

Sec. Treasurer, D. Deccio

BAND

The Ilwaco High School band, along with the Glee Club was the host of the annual Pacific County music meet. A lot of work was put into this music meet by the musicians of our school, and a lot of credit is deserved. Among other activities of the band include: Spring Concert and the Southwest Washington class C contest in South Bend. A full size marching band was used during football season and a small PEP band was organized for basketball season.

SEXTETTE

The sextette gave its last performance at Graduation, completing a successful year of hard work. Included in their activities, the sextette sang at Southwest Washington solo Contest in Olympia, Kiwanis, and other places.

First row: Shier, Kroll, Weber.
Second row: Martensen, C. Reinikka, Haglund.

TORCH HONOR

The scholars of Ilwaco High School make up our Torch Honor with Miss Mack as their advisor.

The Torch Honor is organized for those with outstanding ability in their school work. They are rated on a point system and must have two activities. An A, D, or an F will disqualify them from the Torch Honor.

Secretary, T. Wright

LIBRARIANS

The library has many new books this year for those who enjoy reading. New shelves we added last year; and we have a full line of magazines for everyone to enjoy.

Mr. Strange, our new advisor, picked student librarians whose job is to keep the books in neat order and everything in line.

We have had an enjoyable year and have learned many new things about a library.

Left to Right: D. Wilson, Wright, Fellows, Weber, Shier, Emit Boyd, Martenson, O'Neil, J. Horton, Freshley.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the graduating class of 1955, do hereby on this day of April 21, 1955, make our first and last will and testament.

Article I

First, to the entire student body we leave the ability to do better.

Second, to the incoming seniors, we leave our ability to keep out of trouble and to get along with the teachers.

Third, to the incoming juniors, we leave our intramural basketball ability.

Fourth, to the incoming sophomores, we leave the incoming freshmen.

Fifth, to the freshmen, we leave our sympathy.

Article II

To Mr. Aase, we leave all of the juniors who own cars.

To the schoolboard we leave a future paint job.

To Miss Mack, we leave dirty cupboards and dish towels for the managers to wash.

To Mr. Strange, we leave untold copies of the library rules.

To Mrs. Erickson, we leave our hopes for a happy homelife and lots of little redheads.

To Mrs. Slagle, we leave all of our puffed wheat boxtops for one square inch of the Yukon.

To Miss Rucks, we leave our English notebooks and collection of books for her future library.

To Mr. Erickson, ----- well, we leave him to Mrs. Erickson.

To Mr. Lee we leave a new watch with an alarm so that he will let next year's American History class out for lunch on time.

To Mr. Boyd, we leave our membership card to the Lovelorn Society.

To Mr. Williams, we leave an all-girl's glee club.

To Mr. McFadden, we leave him out as we did last year, but will think of his team during basketball season.

To the cooks, we leave thirty-six mimeographed menus on file.

To Bill Martin, we leave the rest of the school and some prospective helpers.

Article III

I, Jerry Andrews, leave my summer women to some needy junior.

I, Frank Bales, leave Willy to continue the everyday occurrences.

I, Tony Beales, leave my English poetry to Jim Walters.

I, Lee Crowley, leave my gift of "gab" to Carol Reinikka.

I, Pat DeVeney, leave my shopping bag of books to Larry Ward.

I, Virginia Driscoll, leave my physique to Dorene Mattson.

I, Faith Fellows, leave my ability to play the French horn to Clark Johnson, that he might get on the good side of Mr. Williams in times of need.

I, Larry Freshley, leave my cutest smile to James Hill so that he may attract some new freshman girl.

I, Marv Hawkins, leave my ability to get into trouble to Willy Bales.

I, Duane Hagstrom, leave my pal Johnny Bell to anyone who can handle him.

I, Jim Horton, leave my car payments to my brother Don, 'cause I don't think anyone else would want them.

I, Dottice Keiski, leave my string necklaces to Mr. Williams who may need them in one of those moments.

I, Darlene Kroll, leave my office work to Beverly Driscoll so she can always be near the phone.

I, Bev Lundeen, leave my quick wit to Dale O'Conner, so he can keep "right on the ball."

I, Marion Mack, leave my ability to gossip to Pat Martenson.

I, Bernard Martenson, leave my ability of skipping school to Bill Frazier.

I, Tom Meriwether, leave my beard growing ability to Richard Rouke.

I, Elizabeth Ness, leave my ability to get along with Marv to anyone who wants it.

I, Brian O'Neil, leave and take Evelyn with me.

I, Glendine Scott, leave my good grades to Tucky Webster. Every little bit counts.

I, Joan Sell, leave and I am sure glad.

I, Eva Jane Shier, leave my giggles to Jean Nesbit so she can have sound with her action.

I, Ron Smith, keep all of my abilities for they may come into use later.

I, Evelyn Taylor, leave my annual job to a good typist like Edu Elm.

I, David Wallace, leave my Number 27 football jersey to Jim Orander in hope he makes all county.

I, Bonnie Webster, leave my leaky fountain pens to Ann Johnson.

I, Irene Weber, leave my dimples to Janet Nott to add to her own.

I, Eldon Weller, leave my dancing ability to Cullen Baker so that next year he may get best dancer in the bunco election.

I, Betty Wilson, leave the desire to count the days of Bob's return to Philip Stamp because he enjoys it so much.

I, Diah Wilson, leave my twenty question program in American History to Mr. Lee so he'll not get bored.

I, Marilyn Wilson, leave my rock to Jean Tilden so she won't have so many worries as time goes by.

I, Trula Wright, leave my love of horses to Sally Rice and hope someday she'll have her own horse.

Signed this twenty-first day of April, 1955.
